Fruit Stand Operator Slays Intruder

A Negro man was fatally shot last night in a fruit stand and restaurant at 163 Forrest Ave., N. E., by W. S. Streetman, the operator, who told police he surprised the Negro in the building.

Streetman told Dets. J. E. Helms and W. M. Holland he heard a noise last night, went to the rear of the building and saw a Negro man standing inside. He ordered the Negro to stand still.

The Negro advanced and swung at him, Streetman said, and he opened fire. The Negro was tentatively identified as James Stewart, of a Clifton Place address.

Patterson Will Trial Date Set

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff has set Feb. 2 as the starting date for the $16,000,000 court battle over the will of the late Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, publisher of the Washington Times-Herald.

He refused to order a 10-week postponement requested by attorneys for Mrs. Felicia Gizycka, Mrs. Patterson's daughter, who is contesting the will on grounds her mother was of unsound mind.

The will left the newspaper to seven of its executives, and awarded Mrs. Gizycka $25,000 a year for life and some property.

Victims of State Plane Crash Sue Engine Makers

RICHMOND, Va.—(AP)—The owner and two passengers of a small private plane which crashed in Georgia in 1947 have filed suit for an aggregate $57,500 in Federal District Court here.

They seek personal injury damages against the Continental Motors Corporation, a firm which allegedly manufactured the airplane's engine.

Melvin Landis, of Bradley Beach, N. J.; Robert S. Aldinger, of Eatontown, N. J., and Victor T. Sponsler, of Washington, are the plaintiffs.

They claim that Continental, a Virginia corporation, was responsible for the plane crash because it allegedly "used a defective crankshaft" in making the engine.

The plane crashed on Blackbeard Island, Ga., on Jan. 16, 1947.

2 Youths Rob Bank, Shoot Customer

VIRGIL, Ill.—(INS)—Two youths yesterday robbed the Virgil State Bank of $1,500 and shot a bank customer. An hour later police picked up one youth who they said admitted taking part in the holdup.

It was the third holdup at the bank within a year. Bandits escaped with $4,200 on one occasion and with $1,700 another time.

The youth, identified as Arthur Otowski, 21, of Chicago, was nabbed while riding a motorcycle near Crystal Lake, about 10 miles from the holdup scene.

Police said Otowski admitted participating in the robbery. Otowski identified his companion as John Minstur, about 21, of Chicago. Minstur also escaped on a motorcycle.

Steelworker Acquitted in Death of Wife

ALLENTOWN, Pa.—(UP)—John M. Barnak, Allentown steel worker convicted in the fatal shooting of a Lehigh University student, was acquitted by a jury yesterday of charges that he killed his wife, slain at the same time.

Barnak's estranged wife, Madeline, 21, and her escort, Benjamin C. Bowman, 22, Williamsport, Pa., were killed in front of her parents' home in December, 1945.

The 31-year-old husband was sentenced to a 10-to-20-year term following his conviction of second degree murder in the death of Bowman, a former Army lieutenant.

The acquittal on the second murder charge followed the surprise testimony of Mrs. Elizabeth Spaar, Allentown, in behalf of the defendant.

Mrs. Spaar said a man whom she identified as William Grantiz told her shortly before the shootings that he was "out to get Barnak." She said the man showed her a .32-caliber gun of the same type used to kill Mrs. Barnak and warned her to forget about the case or "I would find a bullet in my head."

Joint Plan Would Net $40,000,000

House Gets Measure Containing Talmadge's $108 Million Budget Bid

By M. L. ST. JOHN

The Georgia Legislature will be asked next week to submit a combination three percent sales tax and increased income tax to the people early in March to finance Gov. Talmadge's call yesterday for expanded services.

This measure—and it alone—will be advocated by Chairman Frank Gross of the House Ways and Means Committee as a means of raising additional revenue. Gross said he would ask the Legislature to assume its duties of initiating a tax measure, rather than asking the people to pick the tax.

The measure, if enacted, is expected to bring an additional revenue in excess of $40,000,000.

The House will get to work on the Appropriations Bill and ways to raise additional money next week.

As the Governor completed his speech, administrative leaders, headed by Rep. Jack Ray, of Warren County, dropped an Appropriations Bill into the House hopper. It embodied the Governor's recommendations for $108,299,026.03 "regular" budget, and $42,549,720.00 "contingent" appropriation based on raising additional taxes. The Governor suggested cutting the "contingent" budget down to $34,140,520.00.

Ray, who is Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said his committee would meet Tuesday afternoon to begin consideration of the bill.

Chairman Frank Gross said his Ways and Means Committee will meet during the week. Talmadge, in his message, suggested the Ways and Means Committee confer with the Tax Revision Committee Secretary and determine what action is to be followed in submitting the tax revision or proposed tax revision to the people for their approval or rejection.

Rep. Luther Alverson, of Fulton County, and Rep. Horace Vandiver, of Bibb County, are planning to introduce a bill to raise the additional revenue solely by increasing state income taxes and withholding the tax payment at the source.

Vandiver said all the proposed expanded services should be junked, except pay raises for teachers and school bus drivers. This would cost between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000, he said.

Legislative reaction to Talmadge's budget message was generally good. Rep. E. H. Moulton, of Floyd County, former president of the Georgia Education Association, expressed hope that the full

Operators Feared Dead In Wreckage

Explosion Near Norcross Jolts All Buildings In 10-Mile Radius

By BILL BORING

A 500 - gallon - per - day "moonshine" still exploded at 8:30 p. m. yesterday at Mechanicsville, two miles south of Norcross, giving everything within a ten-mile radius a blockbuster jolt.

Investigating officers expressed fear that bodies of operators of the still may lie buried beneath the twisted debris or are swinging from treetops. No sign of life was found either at the wreckage or in the farmhouse on the property.

Decatur, Doraville, Chamblee, Lawson General Hospital, the Atlanta Naval Air Station—each felt the concussion as the distillery's 50-horsepower boiler blew its top, shattering the two-story building in which it was located.

The officers said they would have to await daylight to complete the search for bodies. Officers said normally four persons would be engaged in operating an installation of the distillery's size.

The blast shook pictures from the walls of homes in Doraville. It caused uneasiness at the Naval Air Station, where planes were aloft. The cause of the blast remained a mystery for two hours and it was feared that a plane had crashed.

Every building in the sprawling Lawson General Hospital area rattled on its foundation. In Norcross, Chief G. H. Simpson thought the town had blown up when he felt and heard the blast. Residents scurried int othe streets, bewildered and terror-stricken.

When Chief Simpson's men failed to find anything wrong in town, most people figured it was an earthquake, Chief Simpson reported.

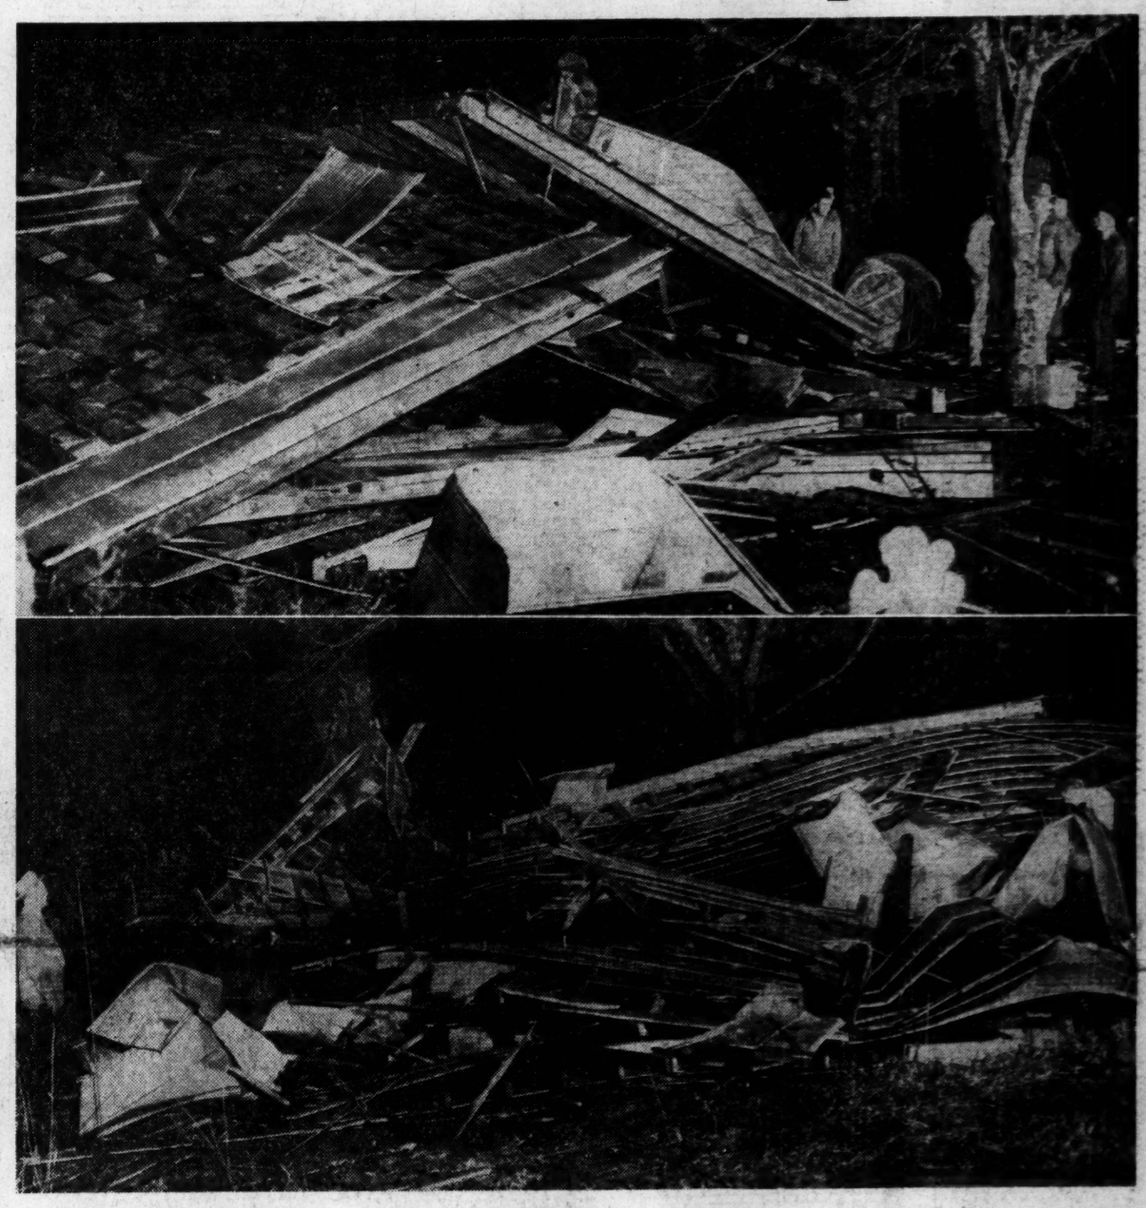

The building in which the still was located was about 300 yards from the Buford Highway, to the rear of a farmhouse in which Deputy Sheriff George T. Barron, of Gwinnett County, believed the operators lived.

Barron said a search of the farmhouse failed to disclose a clue to the identity of the operators. The property on which the still was located is owned by William Tellam, according to Chief Simpson. Tellam does not live on the place and is not implicated, he said.

Both Simpson and Barron believe the distillers were firing the still for its initial run when the explosion occurred. The installation was a coke-burning, upright steamer type. It was well-stocked with bags of sugar.

The boiler was blown about 50 feet from the chief debris of the still. Timbers were blown into treetops. Flying tin from the roof sheared limbs from trees. Twenty-gallon barrels were hurled through the air.

Site of the still was 16 miles from Five Points, in Gwinnett County.

Decaturites Demand Reinstatement of Clerk

By PAUL JONES

Aroused citizens of Decatur yesterday called on Mayor Murphey Candler, demanding that Mrs. Mortie Christian, veteran City Clerk, be reinstated following her dismissal Thursday night by City Manager Jack Gould.

Mayor Candler withheld comment on the situation until the Council meets next Friday night to consider Mrs. Christian's dismissal. But, he said, large delegations of Decatur people had called upon him at his office protesting Gould's action and hundreds of others had called on the telephone to register their protest.

Under the Decatur City Charter any City department head has the right to appeal to City Council for reinstatement if they are discharged by the City Manager. Mrs. Christian said yesterday, "I hope I will not have to appeal to the Commission. I hope they will take action to reinstate me without that."

Decaturites chorused their objections to Gould's action, also.

K. L. Vandiver, electrical contractor, said: "I object to the manner in which Gould handled it. I think the City Manager lacked executive ability when he turned a police officer into a postman to deliver his messages. He should have discussed it with Mrs. Christian and Council."

"I don't believe she was disloyal," commented Reed B. Scott, of 235 Third Ave. "If she had not been qualified for the post she would not have been there 28 years. I do not approve of the manner in which City Manager Gould handled the situation."

Mrs. R. L. Beach, of 131 Clarion Ave., said: "I have always found her to be very pleasant and cooperative. Her long service points up her ability."

Dr. E. F. Scott, Decatur druggist said he thought City Manager Gould handled the matter in the "wrong way." "If she had not been efficient it would have been proper for him to take it up with Mrs. Christian and the City Commission. I was astounded when I read about it (Mrs. Christian's discharge) in the morning paper."

Mrs. John Weisiger, of 2414 Edinburgh Terrace, commented that, "She is one of the finest women in Decatur. She is a very efficient person and she would not have been there 28 years if she had not been. I do not think her discharge by the City Manager was justified."

F. B. Francis, retired Decatur citizen, of 128 Jefferson Ave., said, "As far as I know she has been a courteous ,efficient and pleasant worker."

Mrs. Christian said she was notified of her discharge at 6:55 p. m. Thursday night when a polite officer brought a note to her home which told her she had until 7 p. m. to decide whether she would resign her post or be fired.

Gould listed as reasons for her discharge "general inefficiency and disloyalty to the City Manager." In addition, his charge stated, she "showed a lack of co-operation and proper respect for the position of City Manager."

Wheeler Believes VA Will Modify Order

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—After a conference yesterday between a group of Georgia educators and officials of the United States Veterans' Administration, Rep. Don Wheeler, of Alma, said he was hopeful of having the Government agency modify provisions of an earlier order dealing with the type of institutional training to be provided for veterans in the State.

More than a dozen Georgia educators, including Dr. M. D. Mobley, State Director of Vocational Education, joined with Sen. George and Rep. Wheeler in discussing the case with high ranking VA officials.

Wheeler said the officials promised to take the matter up with Gen. Carl Gray, Administrator of the Veterans' Administration, when he returns to Washington next week.

"Sen. George and I are hopeful of having an adjustment of the order made that will correct the conditions our Georgia educators are complaining about," he said. "The Georgia educators present did an excellent job of presenting their case. It may be that legislation will be needed to correct the conditions. In that case I will offer the proper bill. But as things stand we are encouraged over the prospects."

Following yesterday's conferences, most of the educators returned home.

GOVERNOR'S HOUSE ROLLS—Motorists on U. S. Highway 41 were startled to meet a house coming down the road yesterday. A checkup revealed that Gov. Talmadge had purchased a War Surplus house in Atlanta and it was being delivered to his Lovejoy farm. Talmadge said it would be used as a lakefront cabin.

'Keep Atlanta Ahead' Project Is Inaugurated

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Representatives of 200 Atlanta civic, business and patriotic organizations yesterday voted to form the Greater Atlanta Development Council to implement a 10-year "Keep Atlanta Ahead Program."

Meeting in the City Council chamber on invitation of Mayor Hartsfield, Gen. Elbert Tuttle, President of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; R. L. (Shorty) Doyal, Chairman of the Fulton County Commission, and Richard Rich, General Chairman, the group laid the foundation for making "Atlanta the finest City in America" in a 31-point program which officials said will be announced within the next few days.

Tuttle said the Chamber, a non-partisan, non-sectarian and unselfish organization for the promotion of business interests and civic welfare of the community, will spearhead the effort.

Co-Chairmen of various Chamber committees to handle various phases of a seven-weeks campaign to acquaint the public with the 31-point program were named by Rich as follows:

Preparation division, E. S. Papy and Wiliam J. Roake; Education division, Fred Turner, Chess Lagomarsino, Jr., and Tucker Wayne; Special Prospects, Maynard Smith, James V. Carmichael, and Carlyle Fraser; Sales Groups and Teams, Perryman Little, Leo S. Gilbert, and James W. Lea.

Fred Moore, Vice President of the Chamber, said the seven-weeks campaign will be devoted to a discussion of the 31-point program designed to revive the "spirit of Atlanta." The program will be considered at round-table discussions, special group meetings and speakers who will address service clubs, civic and cultural organizations and others. Feb. 15-25 will be set aside as the time for a drive for new members of the Chamber.

Although details of the 31-point program were not announced, it was said it will deal with a master plan for development of metropolitan Atlanta, with highway developments, offstreet parking, hospitals, health conditions, elimination of blighted areas and other subjects.

Other speakers were Doyel, who urged co-operation and offered County assistance; Earl J. Smith, program Counselor, who pointed out that the eyes of other cities of the nation are on Atlanta especially nearby rivals including Houston, Jacksonville and Chattanooga, and W. Eugene Harrington, who first proposed that the Greater Atlanta Development Council be organized.

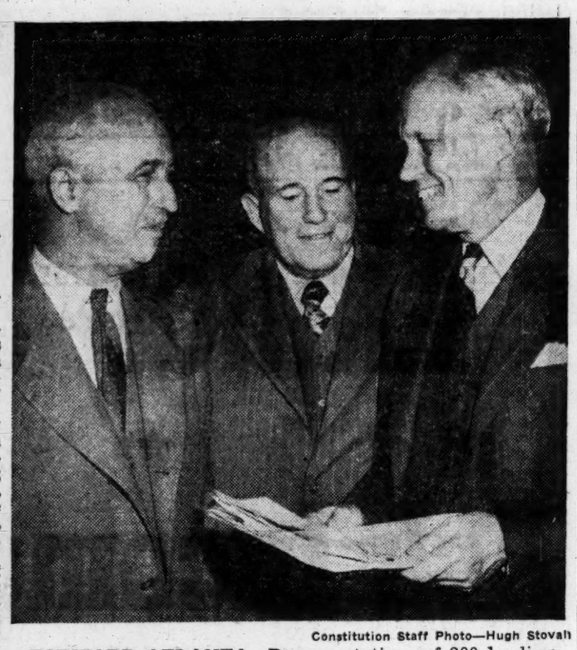

Mayor Hartsfield, who was out of the City, spoke by transcription. He challenged the audience to meet present day problems in the same indomitable spirit with which Atlantans met the problems of the eighties.

Harrington said actual organization of the Greater Atlanta Development Council will take place later. He expressed satisfaction that the group gave its enthusiastic indorsement to the proposal and predicted that the group working with and through the Chamber of Commerce would keep Atlanta the Gate City of the South.

He outlined the purposes of the council as (1) to present to all organizations in the Atlanta area matters of community-wide interest; (2) to discuss each subject thoroughly and to reach a meeting of minds; (3) to enable each organization representative to take back to his or her organization the facts and the conclusions for such decision and action as each organization deems best."

Doyal, Rich and others said "Atlanta will go to town" with a revived civic spirit, and Hartsfield called on to "show the world that Atlanta is again on the march."

Other meetings will be announced later, Tuttle said.

Truman To Let Barkley Take Oath First

WASHINGTON — (INS)—President Truman will depart from custom on Inauguration Day and have Vice President-Elect Barkley take the oath of office before the Chief Executive is sworn in.

This procedure was followed only once before, when the late President Roosevelt had his running mate, John Nance Garner, take the oath of office first.

The Jan. 20 inaugural program, made public yesterday by the Congressional Committee on Arrangements, disclosed President Truman's intention.

The ceremonies will open with a prayer at noon followed by a rendition of the Star-Spangled Banner by the U. S. Marine Corps Band.

Chief Justice Fred Vinson will administer the oath to the President, following which Mr. Truman will deliver his inaugural address. The ceremonies will close with a benediction.

The President and his party will then lunch in the office of Leslie Biffle, Secretary of the Senate, a departure from precedent. Normally the President goes to the White House for luncheon.

The Inaugural Parade will begin about 1 p. m. (EST), led by a police and military escort, with the President following next in his official car.

The Committee on Arrangements announced the Capitol building will be closed on the night of Jan. 19, and kept closed until after the inaugural ceremonies.

Women Voters Hit Change In Vote Laws

The Georgia League of Women Voters charged yesterday that legislation proposed by Gov. Talmadge to revise Georgia election laws would bring about "a controllable elective process."

Miss Johnnie Hilbun, of Augusta, State President, issued the following statement on the proposed legislation:

"For more than a quarter of a century the League of Women Voters in Georgia has worked to perfect the machinery through which the citizens of this state exercise their democratic right of self-government. During these years we have seen many such safeguards enacted into law.

"It is with deep concern and alarm that we now witness the introduction of legislation into the Georgia Legislature which would in effect largely wipe out these gains and bring about a controllable elective process.

"We urge the public and our members throughout the State to be on the alert to understand fully the implications of legislation affecting Georgia's election machinery now pending in the Georgia Legislature."

South Criticized In Negro Education

Dr. John Ivey, of Atlanta, director of the Regional Council for Education, told an Alabama Committee in Montgomery yesterday that the South has been "derelict" in providing for Negro education.

Ivey addressed a committee appointed by Gov. Folsom to study the problem. He said that Alabama, through this committee, is the first Southern state to make a serious effort to remedy the situation.

Bar Asks Ban On Politics In Courts

Albert Henderson, President of the Georgia Bar Association, said yesterday the Association will sponsor legislation in the current General Assembly seeking to remove the Appellate and Superior Courts from politics.

The legislation will ask for a Constitutional Amendment to place the selection of judges on basis combining the best features of the nominating and electing systems.

Under the proposed plan, known to lawyers as the Missouri Plan, nominations for the judgeships would be by a judiciary commission comprising members of the Georgia Bar Association and lay men. Nominees would then be confirmed for the positions by the electorate.

Henderson outlined the plan to members of the Lawyers Club of Atlanta at its regular monthly meeting. Members of the legal profession serving in the General Assembly were honor guests of the Club.

State Bills Aim At Sex Crimes

Laws aimed to halt molesting of children particularly in Atlanta's neighborhood theaters will be sought in the Georgia Legislature next week.

Rep. Pierre Howard said last night he would introduce a bill making the penalty for molesting children more severe. Instead of a misdemeanor, this offense would become a felony under Howard's bill.

Howard introduced a bill this week, at the request of Fulton County judges, aiming at securing more convictions of sex perverts. Howard said that juries are reluctant to convict a person of sodomy when they know the sentence will be straight life imprisonment. The bill calls for making the sentence one to 10 years for first offenses committed on persons over 16 years of age, and 10 to 30 years for offenses committed on children or for second offenses committed on adults.

State School Board Job Goes to Blount

W. C. Clary, Jr., of Waynesboro, yesterday resigned as a member of the State Board of Education.

Gov. Talmadge immediately appointed H. W. Blount, of Burke County, to fill this term, which expires in 1953.

NOW McCUBBINS MOOSE AND FIDDLE PRESENT CAROLINA COURT WITH RIDDLE

NEWTON, N. C.—(UP)—The late McCubbins Moose, an elderly recluse, had Catawba County Court confused today.

For when McCubbins died he left behind his pride—
A fiddle that had seen a better day.
And deep within the middle of the antiquated fiddle a famous name—"Amati"—could be read.
If it's real and not a phoney, it's worth a lot of money—
But McCubbins Moose can't tell them, for he's dead.

Parking Lot Owners Oppose City's Invasion

Private car-parking men have projects in the works which will give Atlanta a daily average of 6,900 additional off-street parking space.

That's the word of the Auto Parking Improvement Association.

But many of the projects are conditional upon the disposition of a Parking Authority Bill now being proposed, said President J. E. Gunby yesterday.

Gunby struck at the Parking Authority proposal as an invasion of private enterprise and as a definite burden on taxpayers. He pointed out that labor costs alone on handling a single automobile in a parking lot or garage are 35 cents. Other costs equal this amount, he said, and the city would find it necessary to subsidize lots parking cars for less, thus throwing a tax burden on people who did not use them.

The 6,900 additional daily spaces planned by private parking lot operators are made up of 2,676 actual physical spaces for cars which, at normal turnover rate, would provide the larger figure.

Parking spaces in high price property areas are impractical, said Gunby. Most of the new space must be in the "fringe" area, three to four blocks from the central business district. Where the average Atlantan walks less than two blocks to reach his parking lot, the national average distance is three blocks, Gunby said.

Although Atlanta lost 3,000 offstreet parking spaces during the war and OPA price controls, Gunby said, it has now regained those 3,000 and added 1,000 more in private enterprises.

A poll of leading Atlanta business men showed almost unanimous opposition to the City entering the parking business, Gunby said. The association, through Executive Secretary Clark McDonald, sent the business leaders a questionnaire asking them, also, if they would "dare" go forward with developments if they were faced with the clamor for city ownership and would they favor the city losing the taxes it now collects on parking lots and garages assessed at $4,000,000.

Gunby said the questionnaire showed the business men overwhelmingly in favor of having the city set up a traffic engineering department to "eliminate trial and error methods of traffic improvements."

Clark Asks Wire-Tapping Be Legalized

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Atty. Gen. Clark last night formally proposed a broad-scale tightening of the espionage laws and asked that wire-tapping be legalized "in the interest of national security."

Clark said he had sent a bill embodying his proposals to Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, Democrat, Texas, and Sen. McCarran, Democrat, Nevada, Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

High among his recommendations was a plan for eliminating the statute of limitations so far as espionage cases are concerned.

The bill sent to Capital Hill would provide that a person accused of violating these statutes might be indicted at any time after the offense.

As the law now stands, the indictment must be returned within three years, if the offense occurred in peacetime.

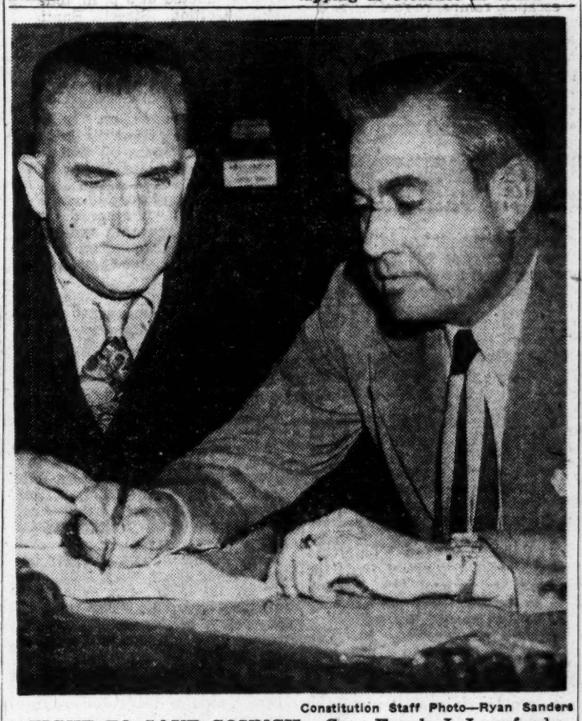

Clark also asked that the laws be changed to cover the passing on of information relating to the national defense "which could be used to the injury of the United States or to the advantage of any foreign nation."

Other proposals include a ban upon unauthorized possession of security information, and provision for a $10,000 fine or 10 years imprisonment or both for any failure to report the theft, loss, abstraction, or destruction of national defense material.

The Attorney General's proposed bill would authorize the FBI, the Army, Air Force and Navy Intelligence to use wire tapping in investigations affecting the national security, "under regulations prescribed by the Attorney General."

It would further permit the use of evidence thus obtained in any court proceeding in which the Government is a party. Unauthorized use of wire-tapped material would be punished by $10,000 fine and two years imprisonment.

The law now prohibits the use of information obtained by wiretapping as evidence in court.

Christian Family Life Study May Be Renewed

By THOMAS M. ELLIOTT

Atlanta's first city-wide institute on Christian Family Living came to a close last night when some 350 representatives of practically all the churches in the city suggested that a similar insttiute be held next May in connection with Family Week, and with approval of principles urged by different workshop groups studying the needs of ages from preschool to adults, as read by Dr. Henry M. Johnson, Professor of Religious Education at Emory University.

The general theme for study in the two-day institute was consideration of roles to be played by the church and the home in securing and promoting Christian family living. In the workshop findings emphasis was laid upon closer co-operation between the church and home, with increased knowledge of the needs of each. Particular emphasis was placed upon trained teachers for the schools, better equipment, adoption of programs of study, church family nights. Special appeal was made for adult leadership.

Sponsoring the citywide institute were the Atlanta Christian Council and the Atlanta Council of Church Women, with members of both bodies participating in the program of study. Dr. Wesner Fallaw, of Andover-Newton Seminary, was the visiting speaker for three stated addresses.

'Liberalize' GOP, Dewey To Advise

ALBANY, N. Y.—(UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey plans to ask the Republican Old Guard to "liberalize" the GOP, it was learned yesterday.

The New Yorker, twice defeated for the Presidency and an unlikely candidate in 1952, feels that the Old Guard must give way to "young blood" with new ideas if the party is to give its next presidential candidate an even chance of victory.

Unmask-the-Klan Bill Moves Step Ahead

By ALBERT RILEY

A bill aimed at the Ku Klux Klan moved a step nearer enactment in the Georgia Legislature yesterday as the solons completed their first week's work, throwing more than a dozen new bills of statewide application into the hopper.

The anti-Klan measure, introduced by Rep. John Greer, of Lanier County, would ban the wearing of masks by any organization at public or private meetings. It was approved by the House Committee on Public Welfare, which is chairmaned by Greer.

Meanwhile, in the Senate opponents of a bill to abolish the Georgia Citizens Council won a point when they got the bill re-committed to the State of the Republic Committee for a public hearing next Wednesday at 3 p. m., in the Public Service Commission chamber.

Sen. Crawford Pilcher, Talmadge floor leader, who introduced the bill, asked that it be sent back to the Committee at the request of Sen. Roy LeCraw, of Atlanta.

Sen. LeCraw exhibited a stack of telegrams he had received from persons urging that the Citizens Council be retained. He said that in view of such interest in the Council he thought the bill to kill it should get further study.

The Senate passed its first bill, one permitting the Secretary of State to have custody of records in the Governor's office, and started debate on a bill to abolish the Agricultural and Industrial Development Board.

The debate was postponed until Monday, however, so the Senate could hear the Governor's budget message.

Sen. Walter Harrison, of Millen, voiced vigorous opposition to killing the A&ID Board and setting up a Department of Commerce in its place.

"The only trouble with the Agricultural and Industrial Development Board is that it was established by another Governor," Harrison said.

"We can't abolish all the good done by other Governors," he added.

Harrison declared that "no one is charging that this Board has not done a good job. It has brought Georgia to the forefront, and I see nothing to be gained by changing its name with every administration."

Sen. Pilcher argued that the Department of Commerce would cost the State only $50,000 a year whereas the A&ID Board costs between $50,000 and $70,000 a year. Harrison quoted "Thrasher's Bible," as he replied that the State Auditor's report showed the Board cost only $45,000 last year.

Most of the new legislation introduced yesterday originated in the House. Among this legislation was a bill that would require automobile owners to pay property taxes on their cars before obtaining license plates.

Reps. Frank Myers and W. G. Pearlman, of Sumter County, and Rep. Worthy Stevens, of Webster County, introduced the bill, and Myers said it would increase the revenue of the State and County governments by $3,000,000, in eliminating a segment of tax-dodgers.

Another important House bill, introduced by Rep. Greer, would extend the secret ballot to every County in the State.

Rep. James V. Davis, of Dougherty County, introduced a bill to require five days posting of marriage licenses, and Rep. W. C. McMillan, of Washington County, threw one into the hopper to re-establish rurual school districts within a County, for the purpose of issuing building bonds.

Rep. Vaughn Terrell, of Floyd County, blind member of the House, introduced a bill to provide a $10,000 factory for blind workers.

The House Veterans Affairs Committee reported favorably on a bill that would carry out one of Gov. Talmadge's campaign pledges to provide free drivers licenses for veterans.

In the Senate a bill was introduced by Sen. Sam T. Wright, of Waycross, to provide Statewide forest fire protection. A companion resolution, introduced by Sen. D. B. Blalock, of Newnan, would provide for an emergency committee on forest fires to be composed of the Governor, and heads of the Forestry, Highway, State Patrol, and Health Departments and the National Guard.

Sen. Lee Purdom, of Blackshear, introduced a bill to regulate the storing and transportation of liquefied petroleum gases.

A bill to provide for the chartering of non-profit corporation group hospital insurance was introduced in the Senate by Dr. W. B. McCoy, of Folkston, the Senator from the Fourth District. Meanwhile, in the House Rep. Greer offered a bill to amend the State hospital insurance law.

Minimum Foundation Program could be financed. However, if anything is to be omitted, the Governor probably was correct in the phases of the program he eliminated, Moulton said. Sen. Walter Harrison, of Millen, an anti-administration leader, said Talmadge's talk was a bold message—perhaps too optimistic over the amount of funds anticipated for the "regular" budget.

Talmadge suggested the state not enter the school building program at this time, thereby cutting off $4,687,200 proposed in the Foundation program; the State not put up $400,000 for scholarships for future teachers, and $2,322,000 be whacked off the $4,822,000 additional funds for buildings in the University System.

A few new services were included in Talmadge's "regular" budget—by using funds which previously had been going to the Highway Department, which was getting more than its share of the appropriation. These new services included $600,000 for school bus drivers, $3,000,000 for rural hospital building, $826,000 to aid Milledgeville State Hospital and the Training Schools for Boys at Milledgeville and Augusta, and $775,000 for extending forest fire protection.

First in line after the "regular" budget, Tamadge placed some expanded services which were proposed two years ago.

These included $4,126,000 for rural roads; $900,000 for rural health service; $1,500,000 for Tuberculosis Hospital, and $1,500,000 for Public Welfare benefits—making a total of $8,026,000.

To finance them, the Governor said it would be a simple matter to raise or adjust some of the present revenue laws—"such as one cent additional motor fuel tax and two cents additional on cigarette tax or other similar items, which would produce even in non-inflation times sufficient funds to pay for these items and to be consistent with my campaign pledge to the people of Georgia." Talmadge added any additional tax, however, should be submitted to the people for their approval.

Added to this might be $150,000 for farmers markets and $250,000 for forest fire protection, Talmadge said — making a total of $8,426,000.

Then comes the new item—the Minimum Foundation Program—which will cost an additional $34,123,720. He suggested this be cut to $26,714,520.

ROBBERS FOILED

Mutt & Jeff Pair Sought

Police today sought a "Mutt and Jeff" robbery team which was foiled in an attempted robbery of Jose A. Fegurea, a business college student, at 311 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E.

Fegurea said he was awakened early yesterday by knocks at his door to find two men outside one of them armed with an automatic pistol. They took his wrist watch, he related, and then demanded his money.

When Fegurea said his money was downstairs in the landlady's office the two ordered him to dress and accompany them. A girl resident walked into the building as they reached the first floor, Fegurea continued, and he dived behind a door calling to the girl to notify police. The bandits fled.

Both men wore moustaches, the student said. One was six feet tall, while the other was only about five feet four inches.

STUDYING BATTLE HILL ENLARGEMENT—Plans to open an additional wing at Battle Hill Haven, home for the aged and convalescent, were aired at a meeting yesterday at Battle Hill. Here, Sinclair Jacobs, back, left, Chairman of the Battle Hill Board, and Commissioner I. Gloer Hailey, back, right, examine the wing in need of renovation with Mrs. W. C. Dameron, President of the Battle Hill Haven Auxiliary, and Commissioner Jack Towns.

Battle Hill Haven To Add New Wing for 55 Patients

An additional wing at Battle Hill Haven, home for the aged and convalescent, will be remodeled and opened to accommodate 55 more patients "as soon as possible," Mrs. W. C. Dameron, President of the Battle Hill Auxiliary, announced yesterday.

The Auxiliary, which is sponsoring the renovation of the new wing, already has raised nearly $7,000 for construction purposes, Mrs. Dameron said at a planning meeting at Battle Hill.

Laurence Hamilton, Superintendent of Battle Hill Haven, stressed the urgent need for more beds.

"Not a day passes," he said, "that we don't get several applications for admittance which we must turn down. We are operating at capacity—142 patients—now. I believe we easily could fill a home with 500 beds."

County Commissioners I Gloer Hailey, Jack Towns and R. L. "Shorty" Doyal attended the meeting and pledged their co-operation in the Auxiliary's efforts to open the additional wing. Towns called it "the worthiest cause I know."

W. R. Wofford, City architect, surveyed the needs, which include fire escapes, ramps, re-roofing and general renovation.

Assistance was pledged to the Auxiliary by Bill Crim, of the carpenters' union; B. L. Brantley, of the plumbers' union; E. M. Cofer, of the Cofer Roofing Company, and State Rep. Jesse Walton.

1 Dead; 2 Hurt, Jailed Trying To 'Dress' Car

An attempt to "dress up" an automobile for sale resulted in death for one youth and injury and police charges against two others, officers said yesterday.

Jackson B. Whitfield, 20, of 1499 Hill St., N. W., was instantly killed when the car he was driving crashed into a heavy highway express truck on Marietta Road at Inman Yards, Fulton County Patrolmen Ralph Kerr and Mike Johnson said.

Two companions, listed as Richmond Eugene Boggs, 17, of 1519 Hill St., and Eric Glenn Barden, 20, of 1780 Marietta Rd., N. W., were treated at Grady Hospital and then booked in City Jail on larceny charges.

Early Friday Atlanta Patrolmen J. C. Clay and R. W. Boyd received a call to 244 Hendricks Ave., S. W., where H. L. Collins said he was awakened to find three youths removing hub caps from his car. Clay and Boyd immediately broadcast a lookout for the car.

A short time later Johnson and Kerr received a wreck call on Marietta Road. There they found the car described in the lookout with Whitfield dead and the two others injured.

Barden said they were attempting to get the hub caps to "dress up" the auto before attempting to sell it, Dets. G. F. Barrett and L. H. Satterfield said. The detectives quoted Barden as saying "We were making plenty" when the car rounded a sharp curve on Marietta Road and struck the truck driven by J. P. Maddox of 3 Owen St., S. E. Maddox was not injured.

Inside the almost completely demolished auto detectives reported finding two auto tires and wheels in addition to the hub caps.

RODE OUT FALLING BOXCAR

Jump Master Sends 36 Chuting to Safety

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.—(AP)—A veteran of four combat jumps said he thought of his wife and child yesterday while he rode out a falling "Flying Boxcar" from which he had sent 36 soldiers parachuting to safety.

The jump master on the Eighty-Second Airborne Division training flight, Sgt. Robert Lee Hodgkiss, of Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, added that he tried unsuccessfully to rescue the three crewmen of the C-82 that burned after a crash landing.

Hodgkiss said all the paratroopers were "very composed" although they knew they were jumping from 350 feet instead of the unsual 800. They went out doors on both sides of the plane in about seven seconds, half the normal time. Nobody froze to the doors.

Hodgkiss, 26, said that after he had complied with his duty of remaining until all his men had "hit the silk," the plane was too low for him to jump.

"I braced, sat down in a canvas jump seat, and thought 'this is it. What of my wife and child'?"

But he was uninjured after the plane came down in pine-covered sandhills four miles northwest of its takeoff point, Pope Field.

"I ran to the front of the plane and got one of the crewmen out of the burning compartment. But it was too late. He was dead.

"The plane probably could have made a safe landing in a clearing except for two lousy trees."

The ship sheared off part of one big pine and uprooted the other.

"I heard the jump bell ring and knew there was trouble because we were only about halfway to the drop zone. The other guys felt it, too, but they were calm.

"We didn't have time to final check parachute harness. I just yelled: 'Standup, hookup, jump!'"

Some of the men came down in trees. Three of the air troops were treated at the hospital in Fort Bragg, of which Pope Field is a part. They were soon discharged. A fourth, Pfc. Virgil V. Votava, of Parkman, Wyo., remained in serious condition. The rest were not badly hurt.

Among those who jumped were three Georgians:

Pvt. Owen J. Smith, Rome; Pfc. James T. Way, Savannah, and Pfc. J. M. McLendon, Colquitt.

Duration Ann Wins OpenDerby

WAYNESBORO—Duration Ann, the wide-running little derby, owned by Miss Betty Curran, of Atlanta, showed that her performance in taking second behind her pappy, Duration Bob, in the members' all-age here last Tuesday was no flash in tne pan performance when she came back to capture the open derby title, final event on the fiftieth annual Georgia Field Trials Association's program here yesterday afternoon.

Duration Ann, who was handled by George Crangle, of Waynesboro, had two finds on her hour sojourn in the birdfield early yesterday morning.

Second place in the open derby went to Euclid Claussen's Brigadoon, while third money was pocketed by George Crangle, who piloted Duration Duke, a litter mate of Duration Ann, to the show place. Brigadoon was handled by Fred Bevan, of Waynesboro.

Duke, who is owned by Vernon Wimbrow, of Oak Hall, Va., beat most of these same derbies in taking the members' derby stake earlier in the week.

Crangle received $140 for his first place finish and $56 for taking third. Second place was worth $74 to Bevan.

Nary Tops Crosby Meet

By RUSS NEWLAND

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif—(AP)—Six under par, Big Bill Nary from Phoenix, Ariz., grabbed the spotlight yesterday in the opening round of Bing Crosby's annual de luxe golfing show.

Shooting a 32-34—66 over the Cypress Point course, Nary paced an outstanding professional field in the annual $10,000 invitational pro-amateur event.

In addition, he shared a tie for best ball honors in the pro-amateur phase of the 54-hole tournament. His partner, the redoutable Francis "Lefty" O'Doul is manager of the San Francisco Seals.

The Nary-O'Doul combination finished the first round deadlocked with Pro John Barnum, Mt. Pleasant, Ill., and Harrison Godwin, amateur from nearby Carmel. The latter put together a best ball of 32-29.

Par is 37-35—72. The 54-hole tournament is played on three consecutive courses. Today's round will be over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course and Sunday's round will take place on the championship Pebble Beach layout.

Jackets Upset Tide Five, 51-38

By GEORGE TISINGER

Five basketball players from Georgia Tech knocked Alabama off the Southeastern Conference undefeated shelf last night by bouncing the Crimson out of the Jacket gym, 51-38.

The Tide came to town undefeated in three league games, while the Jackets had lost three in a row. But those five Engineers, with no substitutions, had one idea and they carried it through.

Joe Keener, Mel Dold, Jim Nolan Mickey Sermersheim and Colin Anderson were dripping with sweat and breathing through their teeth when it was over but they had done their job and their coach and teammates were proud of them.

"It looked like they had it there at one point," said Tech Coach Roy McArthur and the boys on the bench agreed 'it's their game. Let them play it out if they want to.' That's the way I felt, too. They played great ball—the best they have played all year. If they had played the other games like they did tonight we would be undefeated."

After a warm-up period early in the game during which the lead see-sawed back and forth with never much difference, the five Engineers took command.

Twelve and a half minutes of action were over when they achieved a lead, and after that they never let it go.

Nolan tallied one to knot the count at 11-all and then Keener flipped another through to put the homefolks ahead and they took it from there.

Both outfits started slowly with the concentration on defense. 'Bama Forward Rebel Steiner looked like he was in for a terrific night when he hung up three quick ones, but as the Jackets' pores began to open and the perspiration began to drip they started to find the mark.

They were wild with their shots during those early minutes but some talking among themselves fixed that and they steadied down to pull away to a 25-to-17 halftime lead.

The second half was a first-you-score-then-I-will kind of game and there is no telling how many times an enemy would grab it off the backboard and the race would start.

The Tech captain, Jim Nolan, was easily the top offensive man for the Jackets as his mates fed the ball to him under the basket and as he went after them on his own hook. He was high scorer for the evening with 21 points, making seven goals from the floor and missing only one out of eight free throws.

Dold was next with 13 points.

The Alabama scoring was well divided with Rebel Steiner tallying for eight and Dyson Hamner getting seven.

Mickey Sermersheim, for the Jackets, was particularly effective in taking the ball off. His mate, Colin Anderson, worked the center court like an expert. In fact all five of the winners did. They player the brand of ball everybody said they could and they did it when the chips were down.

Only Klan Irked As Dodgers List 3 Cracker Games

By JOHN BRADBERRY
Constitution Sports Editor

Announcement yesterday of a three-game exhibition series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Atlanta Crackers in April—thus pitting white and Negro baseball players against one another—created the expected reaction from the Ku Klux Klan, but otherwise failed to cause much stir in official State and county circles.

Grand Dragon Samuel Green, of the Klan, questioned the legality of Negroes Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella competing against the Crackers on April 8, 9 and 10.

"You can bet your life I'll look up the segregation law and investigate thoroughly," he said.

However, Gov. Talmadge, busy with the current session of the Legislature, merely said he wasn't familiar with the law concerning mixing races in athletic contests and suggested that any action would have to come from Fulton County Solicitor Paul Webb, since the games will be played at Ponce de Leon Park.

Solicitor Webb was equally unconcerned, saying, "I don't know of any law covering such a situation."

The announcement of the games was made by Pres. Branch Rickey of the Dodgers, who said that his Negro stars would play in all Brooklyn exhibition games, including those in Texas, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Dr. Ralph B. Ferguson, Chairman of Miami's Baseball Commission, said yesterday the Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Red Sox would play an exhibition baseball game here in March with Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella, Negroes, in the Dodger line-up.

"They (Robinson and Campanella) are going to play. We received authorization from the City Commission. It was our attitude that if the Dodgers played a Miami team, it might be different. But they will be playing another major league team and both the American and National Leagues use Negroes."

Robinson, appearing on his nightly sports broadcast over Radio Station WMCA in New York, said:

"This is my reaction to the statement about the Ku Klux Klan. I will play baseball where my employer, the Brooklyn Dodgers, wants me to play.

"I don't know how far this objection can go, but I hope very much that fans in Atlanta, or all over America, will not allow this objection to cause a cancellation of the game."

Robinson played in similar contests last Spring in Texas, Oklahoma and Asheville, N. C., without incident.

Pres. Earl Mann, of the Crackers, said, "We will play whatever team the Dodgers put on the field. Since Robinson and Campanella are rated as regulars, we expect they will be in the lineup."

REDHEAD GETS HER DANDER UP

Alline Banks Blasts AAU Official For Sullivan Award Accusation

By STERLING SLAPPEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Alline Banks Sprouse angrily let down her pretty red curls yesterday in a northern direction and broke a week's silence on statements of an AAU official.

"This Jimmy Lee character just saw a chance for some publicity," she said. Lee claimed that Negro track star Harrison Dillard missed the Sullivan award because Dixie's support went against the Negro and for Alline. Lee is an Amateur Athletic Union executive committeeman, of Cleveland.

The usual even temper of Alline Sprouse—nine times an All-America women's basketball player—became uneven when Lee accused sports writers of discriminating in her behalf in balloting for the award.

"He got his name in the papers like a lot of folks do by saying nasty things about the South. He makes me sick." Alline made a face as illustration.

"Make some crack, it doesn't have to be true, about how we Southerners mistreat the Negro and you're made. Write a book about it and your book gets published.

"'Lee" (Alline had to swallow before continuing), "owes me an apology. You know, my husband almost blew up when he saw all that in the papers. We'd sure like to go to Cleveland and sock Lee."

(The Sprouse's aggregate weight is 345 pounds and their combined height is 12 feet, one-half inch.)

Mrs. Sprouse wasn't near through talking. ""Dillard and I didn't deserve the Sullivan. The boy who deserved it got it—Bob Mathias. Winning the decathlon in the Olympics was more than Dillard or I did.

"If they canvass votes Feb. 20 they'll find plenty of Southern support for Dillard. Dan Ferris (of New York, A. A. U. Secretary and Treasurer) said Dillard got more Southern votes than two other white athletes.

"It was a swell compliment geting even one vote for the Sullivan. Now this gink spoils it. Maybe I shouldn't care. After this insult I might not stick with the AAU.'

Lee's reaction to Mrs. Sprouse's remarks was one of regret.

He said in Cleveland that "I'm sorry Mrs. Sprouse is mad. I didn't single out any athlete at all.

"All I did was contact Da Ferris and get the figures on how the South voted."

(Last Monday Lee said Ferris' figures on the Southern voting gave first place to Mathias, 228 points; second to Bob Kurland, 148; third to Mrs. Sprouse, 106, and fourth to Dillard, 91.)

"I thought Dillard deserved it and many feel the same way. I also said that Mathias is a great athlete. I'm sorry I've never had the opportunity to see Mrs. Sprouse perform, but I know she's good. Tell her not to be mad."

Among honors which won Sullivan support for the Manchester, Tenn., girl are: Record holder for consecutive selection to All-America; seven times captain of the All-Americas; 1947 winner of the cosmopolitan award as the most valuable player in the Nation; member of the national championship team four straight years; youngest (17) to make All-America:

Only player to win triple crown—most popular, most outstanding player, most outstanding guard; member of the all-time All-America, and Nation's leading scorer for four years.

Mrs Sprouse gained many honors playing for the Atlanta Sports Arena Blues. Because of health she is not playing this season. However, she hopes to be in condition to play in the AAU tournament in St. Joseph, Mo., this Spring.

Mrs. Sprouse wasn't as talkative about her records as she was about Lee. She did admit many offers have been made to turn pro. One involved $6,000 yearly and a bonus.

"Everytime I thought about turning pro the AAU jumped up and said, 'Stick by us and we'll stick by you.' That's what I did for ten years and now look how an AAU man treats you."

NEW YORK—(AP)—Vince Foster, a sensational Johnny-come-lately from Omaha, Neb., knocked out Tony Pellone, a 5 to 11 favorite, last night in 44 seconds of the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round feature bout on an all-star card at Madison Square Garden. Pellone weighed 146½ and Foster 146.

Bass Routs Rome, 45-28; Marist Loses 6th in Row

By JESSE OUTLAR

Bass' Blue Wave broke into the victory column for the first time this season last night, routing Rome, 45-28, while Benedictine, of Savannah, handed Marist it sixth straight setback, 34-23, in a basketball twin bill before the smallest turnout of the year at Grady gym.

Red Ivey's Bass quintet jumped into the lead at the outset and piled up a convincing 21-13 halftime lead over startled Rome which never could find the right combination.

Guards Jim Ransbotham and Don Fuller, collecting 12 and 11 points, respectively, paced the Blue Wave to its first triumph of the campaign.

Sonny Scott, Bass forward, tried to start Rome on a scoring spurt by flipping a two-pointer into the wrong goal. However, Scott redeemed himself by shooting nine markers in the correct goal and playing a fine floor game.

Dick McPhee's Hilltoppers gave Bass a scare in the third quarter, pulling up to a six-point deficit as the final quarter got under way. However, the attack wilted and Bass breezed under the wire an easy winner.

Forward Bill Montague poured in 14 points to take scoring honors. Teammate Charles Graham found the range for seven markers.

Vastly improved Marist made a serious bid for its first win of the season in the early stages, but couldn't cope with John Douglas, Benedictine's All-GIAA center, who pumped in 16 points. Douglas hit for 10 in the final two quarters. Leon Behr, who netted nine markers, was the only other Savannahian, causing Marist much trouble.

Both teams missed numerous scoring opportunities which accounts for the low scoring duel.

Benedictine held the lead at all the quarter posts, 6-5, 10-8 and 20-14.

Chappell Rhino, one of the best all-round athletes ever developed in Atlanta, sparked the Marist attack, sinking 15 points. Muldower, with five and Earl Gunn, with three, were the only other Marist players in the scoring column.

CITY LEAGUE CHAMPS

Brown Football Team Is Feted at Banquet

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

The 1948 Brown High Rebels, who upset the dope bucket, the experts and the title hopes of six other City League teams to capture their second straight football crown, were paid high tribute at the annual grid banquet in the school cafeteria last night as some 200 persons gathered to join in the cheering.

E. D. Cook, President of the Board of Education; Miss Ira Jarrell, Superintendent of Schools; Roy Davis, Superintendent of high schools; Dwight Keith, Backfield Coach of Georgia Tech; Tom Clift, J. Austin Dilbeck, both of the Board of Education, Principal A. G. Martin and Coaches J. E. DeVaughn, Carl Fletcher, Jimmy Green, Roy Rowlett and R. B. Pollock and Bandmaster H. A. Taylor were among those who took part in lauding the boys and making presentations.

Ed Cook presented the Board of Education's huge City championship trophy, and Miss Jarrell the Region title trophy to Team Captain Charlie Brannon and Alternate Captain Cecil Trainer. Brown now has two legs on the big trophy, which must be won three times to become permanent possession of any school.

Brannon, representing the grid squad, presented the coaches a trophy. To Center Randolph Ragsdale, Quarterback Franklin (Pepper) Rodgers and End Cecil Trainer went trophies emblematic of their being selected on the All-State AA first team, and those three along with Tackle Ed (Bulldog) Carithers and Halfback Charlie Brannon received trophies from the GHSA for being named All-Region players. Silver footballs went to 25 varsity plays for copping the City League title.

Randolph Ragsdale and Tackle Tom Scruggs made what they considered "appropriate awards" to various players and coaches as a gag feature.

Principal A. G. Martin saw that the fete went off in smooth style as the "emcee."

Aiding in honoring the boys, other than those mentioned, included: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chenoweth, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Haidecker, Mrs. Tom Clift, Mrs. E. D. Cook, Mrs. Roy Davis, Mrs. J. A. Dilbeck, Mrs. Carl Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gorham, Mrs. James Green, Mrs. A. G. Martin, Mrs. Robert Pollack, Mrs. M. B. Roberts, Mrs. Roy Rowlette, Mrs. H. A. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bulldogs Stave Off Tiger Rally

By BOB CHRISTIAN

ATHENS—A quick spurt in the late minutes of the ball game fell short last night for Auburn as the Georgia Bulldogs managed to squeeze by the Plainsmen, 55-52, after holding a 20-point lead with 12 minutes to go.

Twice the Bulldogs pulled away to big margins but both times they faltered as the boys from the Loveliest Village turned on the steam and made desperate attempts to catch the locals.

It was the third Conference win against one loss for Sug Jordans' quintet.

After leading 31-16 at intermission, the Georgia five saw its 16-point advantage dwindle to eight after three minutes of the second half. Later on Benny Brawner hit four one-handed push shots and Bill Lynn added six points to put the Tigers within reaching distance at 54-49.

Georgia drew first blood in the game but it was tied 6-6 before they went to work. It looked like a runaway as the Bulldogs ran it to 23-10 with eight minutes to go in the half. Georgia looked good with the 16-point margin at halftime.

After the early second half charge by the Tigers, J. B. Farr, the night's leading scorer with 15 points, hit twice and Bob Healey, Bob Schloss and Dick Thomas swished the nets once each while Earl Davis contributed two free throws and Georgia led, 47-27, and it seemed nothing short of a miracle could stop them.

That is when Bill Lynn, six foot five-inch forward, found his eye. After a scoreless first half, the lanky Tiger chipped in three baskets, Brawner hit four times in a row while Schloss and Thomas were the only Georgians able to connect. It stood 54-49 Georgia.

Farr added a free throw and Lynn connected again after Brawners' foul throw and the Tigers were desperate in trying to overcome the 55-52 count, but the final gun caught them.

It was a rough ball game, somewhat rougher than the total of 35 personal fouls indicate. Georgia lost the services of little Joe Jordan after six minutes of the second half and J. B. Farr followed him to the showers with 11 seconds to play. Auburn lost but one man, Lanford, by the foul route.

The Bulldogs meet the Crimson Tide of Alabama in a return game tonight in Woodruff Hall. The Bulldogs were dumped 46-40 last week in Tuscaloosa and will be out for revenge against the defensive-minded quintet of Floyd Burdette.

Bunny Ookes Resigns As Grinnell Coach

GINNELL, Ia., (AP)—The registration of Bernard F. "Bunny" Oakes as head football coach at Grinnell College, was announced last night by President Samuel N. Stevens.

Dr. Stevens said Oakes had asked to be released from his coaching duties so he could devote more time to his "increasing administrative responsibilities."

ALL TICKETS FOR TOUCHDOWN PARTY ARE SOLD

President George Gardner, of the Atlanta Touchdown Club, wants to correct a mistaken impression which has developed over tickets for the club's annual jamboree party Jan. 21-22.

"All tickets for the party have been sold," George said yesterday. "They are ready to be picked up in my office in the Bona Allen Building. Somehow the idea got out that tickets were still on sale. But all I have left are those which have been purchased by members.

"These tickets should be claimed as soon as possible in person as, in the past, none will be mailed."

The party featuring Ray Eliot as principal speaker will be attended by most of the football headliners in the Southeastern and Southern conferences.

Grady, Smith Clash Tonight In Feature

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

While Murphy High's City League leaders are down in Columbus testing the potency of Jordan a nonleague foe, Grady and Smith High quintets will be matching baskets for second place in the feature game of a twin bill at Henry Grady gym at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Brown and Roosevelt, both having suffered their first defeats of the loop campaign this week, will try to get back into the championship scramble against one another in the opener at 7:30.

Two NGIC doubleheaders, in which the girls' games will start first at 7:30 p. m., are set for Greater Atlanta courts tonight also. Harlan Harris' potent College Park will invade Decatur to take on A. L. Fisher's Bulldogs, recently bolstered by the return to the cage wars of four first-stringers who played in Decatur's losing cause against Fitzgerald in the State Class A football title game. They are Courts Redford, Jim and John Harper and Jack Fligg.

Fulton, rated by Marietta Coach Harrison Anderson as the best team his Blue Devils have faced with the exception of Canton, will motor out to the Druid Hills court for a pair of tiffs. Marietta, meanwhile, will invade Dalton.

Rufus Godwin's surprising Grady outfit, which upset Brown, 50-37, earlier in the week, can move into second place by a half game by downing the Smithies, who currently hold the spot. Shirley Watkins' Blacksmiths, with W. A. Skelton firing 23 points, had to go overtime to edge Roosevelt 45-39, Thursday night. Jerry Seigel, Don Diamond and Duvall Woodford were the hero's of Grady upset triumph.

Brown, with Pepper Rodgers and Bobby Smith in the saddle, and Roosevelt, sparked by Johnny Carson and Richard Bush, are still very much in the running and will be going all out to get back on the winning track.

MAPPING DRIVE AGAINST HEART DISEASE—James V. Carmichael, right, President of Scripto, Inc., has been named to head a State-wide campaign against heart disease. The drive here is part of a National Heart Association compaign to raise $5,000,000 to support education and research. Carmichael discusses campaign plans with J. D. Robinson, Jr., left, Treasurer, and Cody Laird, Director of the campaign in Atlanta.

Carmichael Heads Drive Against Heart Diseases

Appointment by the Georgia Heart Association of James V. Carmichael to head a State-wide campaign as part of a national drive to support research, education and community service combatting heart disease, was announced yesterday by Dr. R. Bruce Logue, of Atlanta, President of the Association.

Carmichael announced that the State campaign would be part of the American Heart Association's national campaign Feb. 7 to 28. The Georgia Association is affiliated with the national organization. Carmichael is President of Scripto, Inc.

James D. Robinson, Jr., President of the Trust Company of Georgia Associates, was named State Campaign Treasurer.

Cody Laird, Vice President of Life Insurance Company of Georgia, was appointed by Carmichael to direct the heart campaign in Atlanta.

Diseases of the heart and blood vessels caused more deaths in the nation during 1947 than the next five leading causes (cancer, accidents, kidney disease, pneumonia and tuberculosis). Carmichael declared in emphasizing the need for expanded research to fight "America's No. 1 Killer."

A campaign organization is now being completed for the State to raise Georgia's part of the $5,000,000 national goal.

An Ambitious Program for Atlanta

It was an ambitious program which Dick Rich and Fred Moore, cochairmen of the Keep Atlanta Ahead program of the local Chamber of Commerce, outlined to the 200-odd members of their Citizens' Advisory Committee yesterday.

"Once Atlanta aspired to be the first city of Georgia and achieved that goal," Mr. Rich recalled. "Then we hoped to become the leading economic center of the Southeast and, under the able leadership of the '20s, reached that goal also. The new program is designed to make Atlanta the finest city in America—a great and well-balanced community, with proper relative emphasis on industry, commerce, finance, education, cultural activities, medical facilities and other needed advantages."

The Keep Atlanta Ahead program is clearly indicated at this time. The city's phenomenal growth is continuing, to be sure, but with it have come growing pains and a complexity which is handicapping co-operative efforts to work out some of the problems of a metropolis. We cannot overlook the fact that other cities have come to this stage and faltered, victims of inability to co-ordinate their citizens' interests and efforts.

Mayor Hartsfield yesterday dared express a thought many have been asking for the past several years, namely, are Atlantans meeting their city's present problems in the same united and unselfish ways as did those responsible for its present pre-eminence?

"Atlanta," said the Mayor, "needs badly an infusion of fresh civic endeavor on the part of the many fine new citizens who have come here in the last few years, or those who may have grown to manhood or womanhood during the same time. . . . Too many of our good friends are using civic organizations just to make new acquaintances useful in business or professions, and doing no positive or affirmative work for a greater city."

"Frankly," the Mayor added, in conclusion, "Atlanta is too full of organizations which just meet, eat, speak and adjourn. In some instances, some of them blanket other activities. We ought to permanently adjourn some of them and all get behind a few effective, hardworking organizations whose members will really work for Atlanta."

The Keep Atlanta Ahead program, we hope, will prove just such an organization.

The task it has set itself is indeed an ambitious one.

But, as its chairmen pointed out yesterday, such an undertaking is strictly in character with the history and traditions of our people.

Quick Confirmation of Acheson

If any doubt had lingered that Dean Acheson would be confirmed by the Senate as Secretary of State to succeed Gen. George Marshall, it was removed yesterday when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee gave unanimous approval to Acheson's appointment.

Acheson has been under attack because he has been described as a member of the "pro-Soviet" group in the State Department during the war.

It should be pointed out quickly, however, that Acheson's membership in this group did not indicate that he held any sympathies whatever for the Soviet Union. Rather, he and a few others merely believed that it would be possible after the war ended to co-operate with Russia. This group thought Russia learned during the war to trust the West and would be anxious when the peace came to help build a united world.

That Acheson and his cohorts proved sadly mistaken might be considered a reflection on their judgment, but it certainly is no reflection on their patriotism. And none has been sharper in denouncing Soviet actions since the war than Acheson himself. In fact, he is generally credited with creating the Marshall Plan to help combat the spread of Soviet influence. He outlined the Plan in a speech in Mississippi a month before Sec. Marshall's celebrated Harvard address.

It is gratifying that his quick confirmation by the Senate can be expected.

A Small Claims Court?

We would like to see the Bar Association investigate and report upon the need here for a small claims court as suggested recently by Clerk T. E. Compton of the Civil Court of Fulton County.

Mr. Compton says he spends a great portion of his time listening to grievances of people who believe they have been imposed upon. Often no actual crime is involved. In other cases the amount alleged lost to too small to warrant employing a lawyer but it represents a considerable burden on those with small incomes.

Other states have small claims courts in which a nominal or no charge at all is made for settlement of such matters.

The lawyers long ago demonstrated their interest in equal justice for all by establishing the Legal Aid Society, which provides counsel for those who are unable to pay. That service, however, primarily benefits those whose grievances are sufficient to warrant going to court.

A thorough investigation and report by the Bar on the need for a "little man's court", to handle cases involving from five cents to, say, $100, would be most welcome.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

Women Were Better Guessers Than Men

WASHINGTON—One of the interesting sidelights of the recent presidential election concerns the number of women who were able to foresee a Truman victory, whereas most of the men, including even those who voted the Democratic ticket, were resigned to the opposite result. Casual surveys made since the election indicate that an overwhelming preponderance of women over men had a firm conviction all along that Mr. Truman would be re-elected. The number of women who won substantial bets on the election outcome is little short of amazing, considering the advice they received from their husbands to lay off such wagers.

Any number of cases could be cited to prove the point. A few will suffice. There is the case, for example, of a prominent official of the Democratic National Campaign Committee who was assigned to the arduous task of raising funds for the campaign effort. He was convinced from the start that Mr. Truman would be defeated, but his wife won seven or eight thousand dollars betting on a Truman victory. Every time his wife would make a new bet, he would severely upbraid her for throwing good money away.

Another concerns the wife of a former Republican Congressman from Michigan. He had high hopes of returning to Washington in an important Government position under Dewey and was full of enthusiasm over the prospects for a Republican victory. His enthusiasm received its first jolt a short time before the election when he heard his wife, a lifelong Republican, say she was convinced Truman would win, that she had made a bet to that end, and furthermore she was going to vote for him. She was tired of the way a lot of people were pushing the little man from Missouri around.

The daughter of a prominent woman member of the Republican campaign finance committee hocked all of her silver, most of her wedding gifts, to raise money to bet on Truman at handsome odds. The mother herself confessed after the election that while she had worked for the Dewey campaign as a loyal Republican, she never had any illusions about the result. In fact, after it was over she was glad Dewey lost because she "never was for him in the first place."

Columns of space could be devoted to similar cases of women who disregarded the polls and the one-sided opinion of the experts to arrive at the right answer on the election. The interesting question is how were they able to do it?

Perhaps the best answer is that women, with their instinctive way of doing things, did not allow themselves to become confused by a lot of statistical data and factors which ordinarily beclouds a man's mental processes. They seized upon a conclusion that was dictated by the logical reaction to simple human values.

The men, even among the President's supporters, yielded their judgment to the public sentiment polls and the experts, whereas the women were not influenced by such things. They seem to have made up their own minds without the aid of charts and graphs and trends, not to mention some of the issues on which a false value was placed. And they came up with the correct answer as a result, not hesitating to back their judgment with hard cash—those of them who are not averse to laying a sporting wager.

In a way it all tends to confirm the old axiom about a woman's intuition being more reliable than a man's careful reasoning. Women as a rule are often accused of not thinking out a problem in the way a man does. Here is a case where it worked to better advantage. The men got lost in too much analysis, relying on too much misinformation.

The way women were instinctively able to hit upon the right answer in the election is epitomized by an incident that happened at the Democratic Convention in Philadelphia. A newspaper correspondent and his wife were sitting in the press section of the great hall on the night President Truman delivered his stirring speech accepting the nomination. They had attended the earlier convention of the Republicans in the same hall and had heard Gov. Dewey make his acceptance speech, so that a first-hand contrast between the two candidates was fresh on their minds.

After the Truman speech the wife, who had little or no background in politics, turned to her husband and said: "You know, he is going to be elected." "Not a chance," the husband replied. "What makes you think so?" "I can just feel it," she said, "and I am so convinced of it that I'll make you a bet."

Just to keep the money in the family, the husband took the bet, never feeling more certain of anything in his life, yet hoping all the while that he would lose. Women, for the most part, needed no more than that to make up their minds—and correctly.

Did You Know This About Georgia?

Ralph McGill is on vacation. During his absence, this space will be used for a series of interesting articles on Georgia, especially prepared by Gus Bernd, Historical Research Assistant in the Office of the Secretary of State.

When many thousands visit and enjoy the facilities of Indian Springs again next Summer, they will be treading on ground made sacred by a famous Indian chief who befriended Georgia at the expense of his life. The origin of the park came about through a story packed with frontier drama. It involves the murder of Chief William McIntosh, half-breed Indian and a cousin of Georgia's George M. Troup, courageous Governor of that time. McIntosh had signed the Indian Springs Treaty of 1825, an act which proved to be his death warrant.

Treaties For many years during early Georgia history, there was constant friction between Georgia and the Indians along the young State's western frontiers. Chief McIntosh had a Winter home on a special reserve which included the spring and considerable surrounding land, and the old Indian village of Buzzard-Roost. The Treaty of 1825 ceded to Georgia the remaining Creek lands as far west as the Chattahoochee; and the Creek Indians were given $400,000 and some lands in the Western United States as soothing syrup.

Chief McIntosh signed this treaty against the advice of the hostile Upper Creeks and became in their estimation a traitor to his people. Since a provision of the treaty made the spring and the Indian Springs reserve about it public property of the Government, the origin of the present park thereby occurred. The little area has always received treatment as a reserve strip and is believed to be the only land ever ceded to the white man for park use. Soon after McIntosh and various other prominent Indians finished their negotiations with the white representatives, his home on the banks of the Chattahoochee in present Carroll County was surrounded and set fire one night. The Chief's son, Chilly, escaped into the woods, but William McIntosh was trapped and savagely killed.

In 1826, a treaty at Washington under the supervision of President John Quincy Adams did over a great part of the work of the treaty of the previous year. Another treaty in 1827 finally took from the Creeks the last of their Georgia lands. Today at the historic Varner House, where Chief McIntosh resided during the Winter months, visitors may see the very counter where the noted Chief affixed his signature to the document that led to his doom but also to the well-known and highly patronized resort of the present. A marker erected by the DAR tells part of the dramatic story of the brave Indian's deed. The Varner House is now owned by a direct descendant of Edward Varner, who lived there after the death of McIntosh.

'Gunpowder' Springs The world-famous sulphur-tasting spring in Butts County was first discovered by whites in 1792 when a Government scout named Douglas Watson, fleeing from Indians, happened upon it and named it "Gunpowder" springs, because of the similarity of odor to the smell of gunpowder. A precious tradition has grown about it through the years since an earlier dread of the gunpowder odor and sulphur taste was overcome. The waters have long been famous for their medicinal properties. In ante-bellum days many of Georgia's first families and leading statesmen vacationed there with their children and their slaves. This oldest of Georgia's State parks is now a mecca for vacationists. Grounds nearby have long been used for camp-meeting purposes.

The boundaries of the springs property have often changed. After a treaty in 1821 the plot consisted of 1,000 acres, with the spring as a center. In 1825 it was reduced to a 10-acre reserve. The citizens of Butts County consummated the project in 1933 when they purchased a 152-acre area about the spring and presented the land to the State of Georgia to be developed as a State park. The popularity of the resort has constantly grown and its facilities improve year by year.

The Old Mill and picturesque rapids of Big Sandy Creek and the neat beach are there to add color to the scene. Modern transportation has overcome the difficulties formerly encountered by pilgrimages to the spot. New attractions constantly appear in the cool shades of the flowering forests and along the busy roadsides. And modern science has made possible many new uses of the valuable sulphurous water. A provision stipulates that Indian Springs shall always be public property, and Georgians have come to appreciate their gift from the Redskins more and more as time proves its tremenous value.

JOSEPH ALSOP

The Role of the U. S. in France

PARIS—For any American in his senses, it is brusquely sobering to discover the powerful influence of Washington on the internal politics—we at home would consider them private affairs—of the nations of Western Europe. A year and a half ago only American financial aid saved most Western European nations from succumbing to dictatorships either of the Left or of the Right. But this phenomenon has now developed into something much more complex and in some ways alarming.

Here in France, for instance, the basic law of the European Recovery Program has the effect of pushing the Paris ERP Administrator, David Bruce, into the center of the whirling maelstrom of French politics. It is worth examining the problem in some detail to see why this is so.

Contest Very crudely speaking, the grand political contest in France is now between the men of the center—the members of the Socialist, Radical and MRP parties—and Gen. Charles de Gaulle and his followers. The Communists were the menace that first caused Frenchmen to rally to de Gaulle.

Their present role is to help de Gaulle by such attacks on the French economy as the recent coal strike. The demand for de Gaulle, the strong man, always grows louder when political or financial instability increases, and subsides proportionately when the outlook improves.

It is something of a miracle that the French Center has survived thus far, through the long succession of Ramadier, Schuman, Reynaud and Queuille Cabinets. Nonetheless, it has survived. And since the passage of Prime Minister Queuille's rather precariously balanced budget, most wiseacres even give the Center at least a chance to survive in the future.

Survival of the Center is difficult for two reasons. Certain issues, such as the Radicals' deep disagreement with the Socialists about State planning, deeply divide the Center parties. And with a few such eminent exceptions as Foreign Minister Robert Schuman and the President of the Republic, Vincent Auriol, the Center lacks big men. Survival has been possible only because Marshall aid has eased the situation here, and because the old Socialist, Auriol, is a political master hand.

Leader Auriol's part, in effect, has been that of the wise old leader of a herd of cattle on the range. Whenever the wolves of the Right and Left come dangerously close, as they do in every governmental crisis, Auriol gives the warning call. Then the whole herd forms up in a circle with their horns outward; the crisis is somehow surmounted, and a new Centrist Government is formed. The Center strategy is to continue to repeat this maneuver indefinitely, if possible, until better times weaken the extremist groupings of Left and Right.

The American role in this process arises inevitably from the conditions Congress attached to the European Recovery Program. For every dollar of Marshall aid, the French Government is first required to sterilize an equivalent sum in France in what is known as the counterpart fund. Second, the French Government is forbidden to draw upon this fund, which will amount next year to more than 250 billion francs, unless the Government is following "non-inflationary" fiscal policies.

The traditions of French Government finance have never been especially puritanical. The tendency therefore has always been to put off all such unpleasant actions as imposing new taxes and dismissing surplus bureaucrats until disaster actually threatened. Now, however, when disaster begins to loom, the first step is to go to David Bruce and ask for a few billions from the counterpart to ease the situation. Being strictly restrained by Congressional injunction, Bruce must then reply that he cannot release the billions until the causes of the threatened disaster have been removed.

Drama This drama was played before Prime Minister Queuille offered his vitally important fiscal and budgetary reform program to the French Chamber last month. Furthermore, Queuille actually sought the votes of certain leading Deputies by informing them that unless the French budget were thus balanced, further release of counterpart funds would not be approved by Bruce. The argument was powerful, since the French Government now relies entirely upon the counterpart fund to finance its program of internal investment and economic improvement.

Thus "American interference" is grumbled against in many circles, while the Gaullists even make the extraordinary demand that all releases of counterpart funds should be stopped, in order to precipitate a final crisis and force a French election.

It is remarkable that, having been placed in this extraordinary delicate position, David Bruce has managed to retain the respect and win the liking of all groups except the Communist diehards. But the fact that Bruce is doing a difficult job with superlative tact does not diminish the American responsibility. Nor does it simplify the problem posed by this new role of playing in European politics which the United States cannot for a time escape.

JACK TARVER

Our Seats Will Be in Heaven

A Brooklyn physician, perturbed at the contrast in life expectancy of the sexes, urges that women start giving men their seats in streetcars.

A tree grows in Brooklyn and the girls are liable to hang him from it.

Of course, women do still get most of the seats on streetcars, but it's through agility rather than chivalry.

A lot of people will be surprised to learn that the average woman lives five years longer than the average man . . . maybe longer, since the latter isn't as likely to lie about his age.

Yessir, recent scientific experiments indicate that a man of 30 is thus actually older than a woman of 35, as well as on their driver's licenses.

Still, I have no doubt that women will continue to stand upon their prerogatives and men upon their bunions.

What if strap-hanging does shorten their lives? On the other hand, it lengthens their arms.

A Good Ambassador

Editor Constitution: Referring to a recent issue of our own Mr. Tarver's column I read that some people asked him why in the world he had selected South America for his mission, but that his reply did not satisfy the "home folks." I, for one, am glad that he had the vision to take advantage of the marvelous opportunity, owing to his having been chosen for this honor. This will also give him the opportunity to see the wonderful natural beauties of that continent, and also to contact its warmhearted people. Besides, we have to share this "shining light" with all, notwithstanding how much we shall miss him. In other words, we could not have a more fitting ambassador of goodwill to send to our sister continent to help iron out our misunderstandings (provided he does not stay away from us too long), for I am sure that you will agree with me that we need him right here with his charming wit. So go to it, Jack Tarver, and more power to you, for you are taking with you our best wishes for a "happy landing!"

A Change

Editor Constitution: A short while ago your paper carried a significant editorial, "Our Problem Children," which pointed out the number of children who drop out of school, either to work or for other reasons, and the need to encourage them to finish high school. We are in hearty agreement with the editorial.

There is one minor point, however, that we should like to call to your attention. The editorial credited the figures to the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor. Two years ago that statement would have been correct. At that time the President transferred the Bureau to the Federal Security Agency, where it became a bureau of the Social Security Administration, one of the main units, along with the Public Health Service and the Office of Education, of the Agency.

But, and this may sound all the more confusing, in transferring the Children's Bureau to the Agency, the child labor functions of the Bureau were left in the Department of Labor, now known as the Child Labor Branch of the Wage and Hour Division of the Department.

J. G. RIDDLE,
Washington. Federal Security Agency.

Commendation

Editor Constitution: The Atlanta Council of Church Women most earnestly commends the November-December Grand Jury in its twofold demand that the Klan, or any organization, be prohibited by legislative action from wearing masks and that policemen, as servants of the people, be prohibited from belonging to the Klan.

MRS. SPANN MILLER.
Chairman Christian Social Relations, Council of Church Women.
Atlanta.

Defense of SPCA

Editor Constitution: I should like to express my gratitude to the good ladies of SPCA for visiting the city and county dog pound to investigate conditions there.

I note that several persons have seen fit to accuse these ladies of unduly interfering with the manner in which those in charge of the pound discharge their duties toward the unfortunate dumb animals entrusted to their mercies, but have, in none of the letters criticizing these ladies, noticed where any of them claimed to have visited the pound to see for themselves what conditions actually are.

All my life I have been an admirer of dogs, and cannot bear the thought of one of these faithful creatures being abused or neglected.

I wish to congratulate Mr. Jackson L. Barwick for his recent tribute to dogs in his letter to The Constitution, and to express sorrow that such men as Mr. D. G. Jones has missed one of the most beautiful things in life. My eternal gratitude to the ladies of SPCA.

Atlanta. WILLIAM M. THEBAUT.

Pictures

Editor Constitution: The Jan. 6 issue of your paper carried three pictures of Gov. Herman Talmadges on pages three, nine and 17; two of President Harry Truman, on pages one and 11.

Seems to me that a Governor with this kind of a "batting average" should have rated page one, too.

Atlanta. HUGH GAY.

Thanks to Smith

Editor Constitution: Congratulations to Rep. Muggsy Smith for introducing a bill requiring all Fulton County candidates to receive a majority of the votes cast for election, instead of the plurality system at present in force.

It is a matter of common knowledge that several stooge candidates and vote splitters were used in the last legislative races in our county for the express purpose of confusing the voters so that the professional politicians could elect their men with a minority of the votes.

According to the total vote in the recent legislative campaign in Fulton County, two members of our present delegation were nominated by a minority of the votes cast.

Accordingly it is rather foolish of us in Fulton to complain about the county unit system and how unfair it is to Fulton, when through the infamous plurality system, we are doing the same thing to ourselves.

I hope that bill passes and if anyone opposes letting the majority rule, let him stand up and be counted.

Atlanta. LORING J. MALLORY.

Note to Milk Board

Editor Constitution: Several weeks ago the Milk Board met and said the price of milk would be the same until November, 1949. Your paper of Jan. 2 stated milk bought at stores would be 21 cents per quart. On Monday morning, Jan. 3, my dairyman went up on milk to 20½ cents in quarts in glass and 21 cents in paper cartons. What I want to know is how they expect us to stay in business and sell milk at that price and make a living?

ELVIN ADAMSON GROCERY.

Where's Justice?

Editor Constitution: One of the greatest exhibitions of injustice was shown the other day in Toombs, a perfect highway for Truman's civil rights program. In my 50 years that was the first time in my life that I have ever heard of a juryman testify for the defense. I do trust that God will take a hand in some of these injustices. What we need is prayer and power of prayer expressed to everyone.

PUSH IMPROVEMENTS--BISHOP

Marietta Camp Grounds Plans Are Discussed

Plans for revitalizing 112-year-old Marietta Camp Grounds were laid here yesterday when a Camp Ground Pastoral Committee met with Bishop Arthur J. Moore and other Atlanta Methodist ministers.

"We invited Bishop Moore and other friends to give us helpful advice, both on how we can increase attendance at our annual encampment and how we can revive the old emphasis on truly spiritual matters," the Rev. Nicholas Mas, pastor of the Marietta circuit, explained.

Miss Ruby Sewell, Committee Chairman, told the group, "When we celebrated Marietta Camp Ground's one-hundredth anniversary, we began to wonder: 'Are we going to die out or be resurrected?' "

M. B. Broadwell, in charge of publicity for the camp ground, reported that—after no cabins had been built in 16 years—seven new cabins had been constructed in the past three years. Youth work is currently being emphasized, Broadwell said.

Bishop Moore advised the Marietta delegation to continue its long-range improvement program, including modernization of camp-ground equipment. Dr. Lester Rumble, Superintendent of the Methodist Church's Atlanta West District, suggested the feasibility of extending Marietta's encampment to an eight-day period, from Sunday to Sunday.

Encampments for years have been held from the Friday before the second Sunday in August through the following Wednesday. The camp grounds are located four and one-half miles from Marietta on Roswell Road.

Others taking part in the conference here included Dr. Pierce Harris, the Rev. Charles Allen, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; the Rev. Inman Moore, assistant pastor of the Marietta circuit, and the Rev. Park Segars, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Marietta.

Bishop Accepts Dean Responsibility

An Atlanta bishop has assumed "full responsibility for Dean Howlett Johnson's appearance at St. Phillip's Cathedral," although he could not indorse the "Red" dean of Canterbury's all but wholehearted espousal of the Russian regime.

The Rt. Rev. John Moore Walker, bishop of the Atlanta Episcopal diocese, in a written statement, declared he considered it well to hear all sides of the truth about Russia, whether or not one agreed with such views.

Stocks Skid on News of AT&T Suit

NEW YORK—(AP)—A slow-poke stock market gained speed on the downgrade Friday.

Sudden weakness in American Telephone & Telegraph stock touched off a flurry of selling soon after the opening which carried prices down all along the line. It was the second sharpest setback of the new year.

Buying support appeared before the downturn gained real momentum but closing prices were still down fractions to well over a point.

The decline was accompanied by a pickup in activity. Turnover of 930,000 shares was tops for the week and compared with a meager 700,000 yesterday.

A. T. & T. started to slip within minutes after the news was out that the Department of Justice had filed an anti-monopoly suit against the company asking that it divest itself of ownership in Western Electric Corporation, a manufacturing subsidiary.

At the worst the telephone company's stock was marked down 1½ points to 147¾, the lowest price paid since 1943. A late comeback shaded the extreme loss and the issue closed down one at 148¼.

A. T. & T. is regarded as one of the most stable issues traded on the exchange and a price change of a point or more on any one day is an unusual event. The company's $9 annual dividend rate is one of Wall Street's strongest traditions. Stockholders have received the $9 dividend, in good times and bad, for nearly 30 years, even during 1932 when the price plunged to around $70 a share.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost .5 of one point at 64.8. Trading broadened to include 1,016 issues, of which 626 dropped and 199 advanced.

Creole Petroleum lost more than a point in the curb, followed by Kaiser-Frazer, Pancoastal Oil, Pantepec Oil, Cities Service and Fansteel Metallurgical. A bit higher were Clarostat Manufacturing, American Gas, Carr-Consolidated Biscuit, Franklin Simon, and Niagara Hudson Power. Sales of 240,000 shares compared with 200,000 Thursday.

Pepped-up trading set off by a generous turnover in American Telephone liens turned the bond market downward Friday. Many issues dropped fractions to more than a point in the fastest exchange of the week.

DRYGOODS REPORT

NEW YORK—(AP)—In the cotton textile market Friday, 80 square print cloth number sold increasingly below the 20-cent-a-yard level, with a good many sales for prompt delivery at 19¾ cents a yard. There was little interest in drills and twills. Sheetings held steady, partly reflecting the fact that producers were well sold-up for the next two months. Wool goods held dull, and demand for rayon continued routine.

Official proclamation of the week was issued by Gov. Talmadge calling for state-wide recognition of the event. Prospective exhibitors or float sponsors are asked to call the Woman's Club at VErnon 0761.

At their second formal session lasting 15 minutes the delegates approved the text of a conference preamble which pledged each side to start no new military offensives and to respect the national security of the other while the armistice conference is in progress.

A spokesman for the acting UN Mediator, who is sponsoring the conference, said the agreement was an important step since any armistice must be based on voluntary assurances that no aggressive action is contemplated by either side.

2S	P	7D	P

Opening lead: Three of spades.

It is fortunate for contract bridge that guess work cannot be completely eliminated from the contest, else the game might become much too mechanical and lose a great deal of its charm. The days when guesses are all working provide thrills known only to the outdoor man when fish are biting and putts are sinking.

When one has a choice of two equally probable plays, the toss of a coin or a mere hunch may be just as good a method of selecting the play as any other. However, what might on the surface appear to be an out and out guess, may in fact turn out to be not so, if a player will examine the motives of his adversary in making or refusing to make a certain play.

The declarer in today's hand was faced with an even money guess if ever there was one. However, he weighed what little evidence there was to work with and arrived at a conclusion which meant a great many chips to his side. The bidding is open to some question. The first two calls are according to Hoyle. South's immediate jump shift is the only proper bid on a hand that is a moral certainty for a slam. North's rebid is somewhat doubtful. With his partner violently slam-minded North should make every effort to slow him up and not make any bid too early in the auction that might give South some further inducement to make a heavy commitment.

The better part of valor would have been to rebid to three clubs. When North showed the spades, South felt that the dummy would surely be able to take care of all four of his losers and contracted for a grand slam. While this appears to be a good gamble, it is by no means a sure thing. North might have some hand that contained the K-J of clubs and only the A-K of spades.

Had West chosen to open a trump, there would have been no play for the hand, but he elected to lead the three of spades which was won in dummy and declarer was faced with the guess as to which finesse to take. He could discard the three hearts and try the club finesse or discard the losing club and try the heart finesse. Surely on straight percentages there was nothing to choose between these two plays. One was just as good as the other. Declarer's eventual decision to take the club finesse was based on a human factor. Clubs, diamonds, and spades had been bid, so that the logical lead by West would have been the unbit suit, hearts, rather than the suit that had been named by the dummy, unless West had some reason to fear that lead. What reason could he have to fear hearts, if he did not have the king? On this line of reasoning declarer took the club finesse. He had something.

Rome Rob Trial Of Forrest Turner Set for Monday

ROME—(AP)—A 12-year-old robbery charge against Forrest Turner, the one-time bad boy of Georgia prisons, will be tried Monday.

Sol. Gen. William T. Maddox said Turner would be brought from Fulton County, where he is a trusty, to face the charge.

The indictment charges Turner and two other men robbed J. U. Martin, a filling station operator, of $225 the night of Oct. 16, 1936.

The indictment was uncovered last month, when the Pardon and Parole Board was studying a parole for Turner.

Martin died Dec. 28, and his widow asked that the State prosecute the case, Maddox said.

Maddox said Turner and two other men were accused of forcing Martin to accompany them to his living quarters at the filling station. He said Mrs. Martin fired six shots at the men, but that they escaped.

The Parole Commission declined to consider action in Turner's case when the Rome indictment and another robbery indictment at Griffin were called to its attention.

Truman Given Freedom Scroll For Archives

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman was presented yesterday with the "Freedom Scroll" signed by more than 3,500,000 visitors to the Freedom Train.

The train made a journey to 324 cities to give the people a look at historical documents and other American treasures.

Thomas D'Arcy Brophy, President, and J. Edward Shugrue, National Director of the American Heritage Foundation, presented the scroll at the White House. Mr. Truman in turn presented it to Luther H. Evans, head of the Library of Congress and Wayne C. Grover, archivist of the United States. The document becomes a permanent archive of the Government.

The Freedom Train makes its final appearance in Washington during inauguration week.

Double Rites

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Lt. Jean Eschallier, 32, was killed in Italy in 1944. His body was returned to Philadelphia in December.

His wife, Florence, 33, was ill when the body arrived here. She insisted that the funeral be held up until she had recovered so that she could attend.

Mrs. Eschallier died Wednesday. The funeral will be today—for husband and wife.
